2.3 Teaching learning Process

2.3.1 Student Centric methods, such as experiential learning, participative learning and problem-solving methodologies are used for enhancing learning experiences

The Teaching Learning process begins with the subject teacher crafting the course outline, which serves as the foundation for defining the problem statement. Drawing on the learning objectives prescribed by Savitribai Phule Pune University, the course outline encompasses the essential topics and sequencing of content delivery. If there is more than one teacher teaching one course, then the decision about course outline, CIE techniques is done collectively. Subsequently, the problem statement is formulated to challenge students' critical thinking and practical application of the course material. Upon establishing the problem statement, the subject teacher selects appropriate Concurrent Internal Evaluation methods as per the guidelines provided by the university. These evaluation techniques, ranging from projects to practical exams, are chosen to effectively assess students' comprehension and skills within the context of the problem statement.

To ensure a consistent and fair assessment process, the subject teacher prepares detailed rubrics for each evaluation method. These rubrics outline specific grading criteria and performance expectations at various levels. Throughout the course, the problem statement and evaluation methods are utilized for ongoing assessment, with valuable feedback provided to guide students' progress. By following this systematic approach, subject teachers create a dynamic learning environment that adheres to Savitribai Phule Pune University's directives, fostering student growth and achievement as they tackle real-world challenges and acquire valuable knowledge and abilities.

Student Centric Methods: Student Centric Methods approach provides knowledge to the students to develop models or solve the problems by applying theory knowledge. In this process students actively participated. Teachers play the role of facilitator and help students to come to a conclusion. Faculty members use a blend of various methods to transfer knowledge about the subject area.

1. Experiential Learning- It is a belief and practice in which teachers purposefully engage with students in direct involvement and focused thinking in order to increase knowledge, develop skills, and clarify values. In this process students can have learned through action, learning by doing, learning through involvement, finding and examination.

Report

Best out-of-waste simply means to make something innovative and attractive out of the material that is of no use otherwise.

Recycling and reusing the valuable waste material can result in development of fantastic and usable products. Rather than putting these waste materials into the landfills, various innovative and creative ideas can be put together to being something new and useful.

The main objective of conducting this activity is to celebrate “Creativity and Innovation Day” and motivate students for creativity. In order to make students aware of the uses of waste material and to give them a lesson on reducing waste to save our future ‘Best from Waste’ activity was organised at SKN Sinhgad School of Business Management, for the students of MBA. It explored and encouraged creativity in students and offered them a platform to showcase their skill. It also inspired students to think and work creatively and promote artistic excellence.
